

Assignment 2: Ontology

The subject of this ontology is figures from Greek mythology. I have always been a fan of the stories and figures from Greek mythology, and wanted to use this ontology as a way to learn more about the Greek god and goddesses and their families. I mainly focused on the relationships of Zeus as he has many different relationships with many figures from Greek mythology. I limited the scope of my ontology to Greek mythology figures that are related to the Twelve Olympians; I could not cover all figures that I was interested in and this contained my ontology to a manageable number of figures.

Classes include figure names, types, and what they have domain over, and then object properties is used to define the relationships between mythology figures and what they are the god or goddess of. I mainly focused on the family and romantic relationships between various figures, as this is what interests me the most about Greek myths.